Overseas growth strategy on track

HALO Invest was formally launched in the United Kingdom in December 2023, led by Douglas Boyce, an experienced finance executive within the UK financial services industry. The HALO Global Equity Research platform (HALO's traditional subscription model) commenced a pilot period on the 4 November 2024. This product is now live in the UK. The HALO Invest Wealth Management Platform is planned for release over coming months focussing on Advisor and D2C (Direct-To-Consumer) auto-investing in model portfolios of Listed Securities (ETFs and Equities) and Unlisted Products (Managed Funds). The platform will be further extended to reflect other security & product types and Direct Investing, similar to the traditional model in place in Australia.

The Board of HALO Invest, which is ultimately the licensed entity interfacing with the UK Financial Conduct Authority (FCA) and is a wholly owned subsidiary of HALO Tech Holdings UK LTD (UK Holding Company), is currently undergoing a Variation of Permissions program (FCA VOP). This is to achieve the required permissions to operate a UK-based Wealth Management platform for the various products or tax wrappers that exist in the UK. This has been earmarked for completion by the end of June 2025. These are well advanced towards a positive outcome.

Since November 2024 and in earnest over the past quarter, the UK Holding company (HALO Tech Holdings UK LTD) has been developing an investment program, conducted by the UK CEO, to identify strategic investment partners who will bring substantial commercial benefit to the UK platform. This program is showing promise with a number of parties engaged. We hope to be able to announce progress on these developments soon.

Each of the FCA VOP and Strategic Investor programs is required to enable HALO Invest Ltd to move forward on onboarding its first wealth management clients within the next 6 months. To date, the outreach to potential clients in the UK has shown significant interest in the platform. It is a testament to the hard work by the Australian HALO Product and Development teams and the experienced UK management team to deliver a platform that could potentially disrupt Industry titans.

Outlook

HALO continues to show growth in funds under management and brokerage revenue. Going forward, HALO will continue its strategic initiatives to grow its B2B network and subscriber base in Australia and to invest in the growth of HALO Invest as it launches its business activities in the UK.

As part of our strategic investment in development of the platform, we expect to launch Managed Funds in Australia over the coming quarter which will provide a significantly expanded product base to target traditional Financial Planners.
