

Executive Management Changes

Aspire Mining Limited (ASX: AKM, Aspire or the Company) advises that it has implemented changes to its Board and Executive team to support the next phase of its growth, with a shift in strategic focus to project implementation with the increased on-the-ground activities in Mongolia.

Having de-risked the world class Ovoot Coking Coal Project (OCCP) through securing major permits, updating JORC compliant Coal Resource and Coal Reserve estimates, and advancement of designs and procurement for major infrastructure, the Company must shift quickly into implementation including finalising funding and commencing construction.

As a part of this process, the Board advises that Mr. Russell Taylor will step away from his position as Executive Director, and Mr. Tristan Garthe will conclude his tenure as Chief Financial Officer in early September. Both will remain with the Company during their respective three-month notice periods to ensure a smooth and orderly transition.

The Board sincerely thanks Mr. Taylor and Mr. Garthe for their valuable contributions during a pivotal period in Aspire's evolution. Their expertise and efforts have been instrumental and have provided strong foundations as the Company transitioned from an exploration-led business to active project development and implementation at the OCCP.

These changes represent a natural progression as Aspire enters the project execution phase, with a sharper focus on in-country operations and resourcing. To support this next stage - encompassing the construction and future operation of the OCCP - the Company is expanding its Mongolian-based team through targeted recruitment across construction, finance, and procurement functions.
