

ANNOUNCEMENT

Wrkr completes employer services platform trial with Rest & MUFG Retirement Services, accelerating readiness for Payday Super

Sydney, Tuesday 17 June 2025 – Wrkr Ltd (ASX: WRK) (“Wrkr” or “Company”), an innovator in digital workforce compliance solutions, is pleased to announce it has completed a successful pilot of its employer services platform with Rest (“Rest”), one of Australia’s largest profit-to-member superannuation funds, in partnership with MUFG Retirement Services, a division of MUFG Pension & Market Services (MPMS).

The pilot included deploying a production version of Wrkr’s platform for testing and feedback by Rest, MUFG Retirement Services users, Rest employers and their users. The program was a tri-party effort between Rest, MUFG Retirement Services and the Wrkr team. Over the pilot period, production data was used, including the onboarding of new businesses and users, and the processing of numerous super contributions. The period was used to co-design improvements and features to ensure a significant uplift in user experience from current experiences and test alignment to Payday Super changes.

Following the successful pilot, Rest has moved into the next phase of implementation of the platform including negotiating the final commercial terms with MUFG Retirement Services. Rest, with more than two million members and around $93 billion in funds under management, is now well positioned to accelerate preparations for the introduction of Payday Super, expected in July 2026.

Trent Lund, CEO of Wrkr, said: “We’re delighted to have completed a comprehensive pilot with Rest and MUFG Retirement Services. The pilot rigorously tested our platform, which is an industry-leading employer services platform, in a real-world superannuation environment. The participating Rest employers provided positive feedback about the platform’s simple and intuitive user experience. This is a significant step forward in Rest’s preparations in helping their employers prepare for Payday Super.”

Brendan Daly, Chief Service Officer of Rest, said: “We believe Payday Super will help many of our members – and millions of working Australians – achieve fairer retirement outcomes, particularly those who work in part-time and casual roles. We strongly support these reforms, but we’re also conscious of the potential impact they could have on employers and the need to upgrade administration infrastructure ahead of the changes. We are pleased with the success of the pilot and the encouraging responses we received from the participating employers, and we look forward to working closely with Wrkr and MUFG Retirement Services on the next steps to roll out the platform in the coming months.”

Wrkr will work closely with Rest and MUFG Retirement Services to define the active users and implementation timing. Once the implementation plan and commercials between Rest and MUFG Retirement Services are complete, Wrkr will provide further financial information.
