

QUARTERLY ACTIVITIES REPORT

Quarter Ended 30 September 2025

Technical Target Generation Advancing across WA Exploration Portfolio

Highlights

- Sale of Mt Roe Mining Pty Ltd to Northern Star Resources Ltd (ASX: NST) completed for AUD$13.5 million cash; core projects, Yule River and Pardoo, retained
- Eleven targets prospective for VHMS, orogenic gold and magmatic Ni-Cu-PGE mineral systems identified at the Yule River Project
- Ground Gravity Survey planned to commence with objective to define drill targets for 2026

Mantle Minerals Limited (ASX:MTL) ("Mantle") ("the Company") is pleased to provide the following report on its activities for the quarter ended 30 September 2025.

Yule River Project (E47/3857)

The Company finalised a detailed geophysical interpretation over the Yule River Project, located approximately 35 kilometres west of Port Hedland. The study, completed by Core Geophysics Pty Ltd, involved the reprocessing and reinterpretation of high-resolution airborne magnetic imagery acquired by Mantle in 2020 and has outlined potential extensions to a concealed greenstone belt comprising mafic-ultramafic sequences, Historical drilling by Western Mining Corporation (1991–1993) included 14 RC holes (MDRC1–14), two of which (MDRC3 and MDRC4) fall within the current tenement and confirmed serpentised ultramafic, felsic volcanic and cherty units consistent with Archaean De Grey-type greenstones. MDRC4 intersected a talc–antigorite–magnetite–hematite alteration zone with weak gold anomalism (46 ppb Au), indicative of a VHMS-style feeder system. The area sits within a structurally favourable portion of the Mallina Basin where the Scholl Shear Zone (SSZ) and Yule River Shear Zone (YRSZ) converge, analogous to the setting of De Grey's Hemi deposit.

Eleven targets (YR1 – YR11) were identified, these were prospective for several mineralisation systems, including (VHMS), orogenic gold and Ni-Cu-PGE.

- YR1 – YR3: VHMS feeder and alteration systems associate with felsic intrusions;
- YR4 – YR6, YR8 – YR11: Orogenic gold targets along the SSZ – YRSZ corridor; and
- YR7: Magmatic Ni-Cu-PGE target over an intrusive E – W magnetic feature.

Of the eleven targets identified, Target YR1 has been rated the highest priority VHMS prospect, corresponding with the magnetic anomaly previously drilled by WMC in hole MDRC4. The anomaly exhibits a zone of magnetic destruction consistent with magnetite alteration, forming a vertical to sub-vertical pipe-like body, interpreted as a potential feeder conduit beneath felsic volcanic rocks. In addition, the geological interpretation for Target YR7 is supported by its cross-cutting geometry and XRD results from hole MDRC3 (69–70m), which identified the rock as a metamorphosed ultramafic.

To further refine drill targeting, the Company is planning to undertake a ground gravity survey focused on Target YR1. The program will be designed to collect high-resolution gravity data to map density contrasts related to massive sulphide or ultramafic bodies, with results being integrated into a 3D magnetic and gravity inversion model to define the geometry and depth extent of Target YR1 prior to drilling planned for 2026.

Pardoo Project (E45/4136 & E45/5194)

The Company advanced its ongoing desktop review and data compilation of previous exploration datasets at the Pardoo Project, located approximately 120km east of Port Hedland and situated along the Pardoo Shear Zone, a structural corridor known to host iron-oxide and shear-related base metal mineralisation.

Historic work over portions of the tenure has identified hematite alteration and coincident magnetic features, with limited geochemical sampling returning anomalous copper and gold. The Company is now consolidating geophysical and drilling datasets into a unified database as the basis for modern geological reinterpretation.

The project also includes the Highway Nickel Deposit, which contains a JORC 2012-compliant Mineral Resource Estimate of 16.5 Mt at 0.407% Ni for approximately 67,005 tonnes of contained nickel (Indicated and Inferred categories). The objective of the current desktop work is to identify untested structural or geophysical opportunities that may support future ranking for field verification in 2026.

Carlton Hill

During the period, Mantle also expanded its regional exploration footprint through the pegging of new ground at Carlton Hill, approximately 50 km north of Kununurra in the northern Bonaparte Basin. This tenure lies along the same structural trend as the Sorby Hills Pb-Zn-Ag system, which hosts a large carbonate-hosted base-metal deposit approximately 35 km to the west.

The Carlton Hill area is considered underexplored, with limited modern geophysics or systematic mapping completed historically. The initial phase of work will comprise compilation of open-file datasets and reconnaissance-scale geological assessment to determine the most prospective stratigraphic and structural positions for follow-up.

Corporate

Divestment

During the quarter, the Company completed the divestment of its wholly owned subsidiary, Mt Roe Mining Pty Ltd, to Northern Star Resources Limited (ASX: NST).

Mantle received the full cash consideration of $13.5 million and proceeds from the transaction are being applied towards advancing exploration at the Company's remaining exploration portfolio, the Yule River and Pardoo projects.
