

Janison secures contract with the Victorian Building and Plumbing Commission

Highlights

- Janison wins new contract with the Victorian Building and Plumbing Commission to deliver a digital assessment platform for building and plumbing accreditation applicants.
- Three-year Total Contract Value of approximately $719,000, with two optional one-year extensions.
- Contract strengthens Janison's position as a trusted technology partner to government and regulatory bodies across Australia.

Janison Education Group Limited (ASX: JAN) ("Janison" or the "Company") has entered a three-year contract with the Victorian Building and Plumbing Commission (BPC) to provide a digital assessment platform for online exams for building and plumbing accreditation applicants. The contract has a minimum total value of $719,000 over a three-year period and includes two optional one-year extensions and is subject to standard termination provisions.

BPC selected Janison based on its proven track record in delivering large-scale, secure digital assessments. Janison's platform provides reliability, flexibility and scalability to support significant reforms BPC is undertaking to streamline workflows, enhance assessment consistency, reduce administrative burden, and strengthen the integrity of accreditation outcomes

While not material to Janison's earnings, this contract strategically expands Janison's footprint in the government and regulatory assessment sector, reinforcing its reputation as a trusted technology partner to public authorities seeking to modernise high-stakes testing. The agreement was awarded through a competitive tender process and builds on Janison's existing relationship with the BPC, following the successful delivery of remote proctoring services over the past year.

Janison CEO, Sujata Stead, said: "We are proud to support the Victorian Building and Plumbing Commission as it modernises its licensing and registration systems. This partnership further demonstrates the confidence government agencies across Australia have in Janison's ability to deliver robust digital assessment solutions."
