SILC Claim Update– External Administrators Appointed

Assetora Limited (ASX: AOH) advises that further to its announcement on 10 December 2025, it received notification yesterday that Liam Bellamy and Trajan Kukulovski were appointed external administrators of the Company, pursuant to a general security deed.

As previously advised, the Company disputes the alleged debt relied upon by SILC and considers that there are substantive grounds to challenge both the debt and the statutory demand.

Following discussions with the administrators last night, the Company wrote to them raising its disputes. The administrators have since responded rejecting the Company's position.

Without prejudice to its rights and solely to avoid the incurrence of additional costs, the Company has written back confirming that it is prepared to pay the alleged debt in full by Tuesday next week and has requested that the administrators provide a payout figure on that basis.
