ASX release

Worley to provide full project delivery services for Suncor's Firebag Debottleneck project in Canada

Worley Limited (ASX: WOR) ("Worley") has been awarded the construction and fabrication contract for Suncor's Firebag Debottleneck project in Alberta, Canada.

Under the contract, Worley will deliver module fabrication and field construction services at the Firebag Central Processing Facility. It follows Worley's delivery of engineering and procurement services with the new contract expected to run for 24 months, from early construction involvement through to commissioning and start-up.

Chris Ashton, Chief Executive Officer of Worley, said: "The addition of this next phase speaks to the value of our end-to-end project delivery capabilities and our strategy to capture more full project delivery work."

"Worley has supported Suncor for more than 30 years, and this award continues the long-standing relationship between the two companies," he added.

Authorized for release by Nuala O'Leary, Group Company Secretary.
