ASX release

Worley selected by Samsung C&T for CO<sub>2</sub> sequestration project in Qatar

Worley Limited (ASX: WOR) ("Worley") has been awarded a contract by Samsung C&T Corporation to deliver detailed engineering services for the QatarEnergy LNG Carbon Dioxide Sequestration Project a carbon dioxide (CO<sub>2</sub>) LNG sequestration project in Qatar.

The project will support permanent storage of approximately 4.3 million metric tonnes of CO<sub>2</sub> per annum, marking a significant milestone in Qatar's commitment to sustainable development.

Under the contract, Worley will provide detailed engineering services to Samsung C&T. The work will be executed from Worley's Qatar office, supported by Worley's Global Integrated Delivery center in India and additional expertise from teams in Australia.

This contract follows Worley's successful delivery of the front-end engineering design phase for the project, reinforcing the company's role as a trusted partner in the energy transition.

"We're proud to continue our collaboration with Samsung C&T on this landmark project. This award reflects our capability in CCUS and our commitment to supporting our customers as they invest in technologies that help decarbonize energy production," said Chris Ashton, Chief Executive Officer of Worley.

Once operational, the LNG sequestration project will play a key role in reducing greenhouse-gas emissions and enabling a more sustainable energy system for the region.

Authorized for release by Nuala O'Leary, Group Company Secretary.
