PRINCIPAL ACTIVITIES

Invex is a biopharmaceutical Group focused on the repurposing of an already approved drug, Exenatide, for efficacious treatment of neurological conditions derived from or involving raised intracranial pressure (ICP). The principal activity of the Group during the period has been the development of Exenatide, including generating new pre-clinical data in Alzheimer's Disease (AD) under a collaboration with Tessara Therapeutics. In addition, the Group has held a number of productive discussions with a number of potential third parties with complementary assets that could generate additional opportunities and value for Invex shareholders.

RESULTS

The net loss attributable to members of the Group for the half year ended 31 December 2025 was $715,582 (31 December 2024: loss of $356,535). The Group's cash at bank was $4,595,328 at 31 December 2025.

REVIEW OF OPERATIONS

Operational Highlights

R&D Collaboration with Tessara Therapeutics

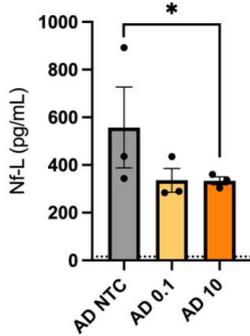

During the period, the Company announced the results of the additional research collaboration with Tessara Therapeutics (Tessara). The new analysis further assessed Exenatide in Tessara's ADBrain™ model, which had previously shown that Exenatide significantly improves neuronal cell survival under conditions mimicking Alzheimer's Disease (AD).

In the analysis, the effects of Exenatide on neuroinflammatory cytokine release and glucose metabolism was assessed in the ADBrain™ model. In addition, the effect of Exenatide on neural networks such as network density, branch length, and number of branches was explored with the effect of Exenatide on AD biomarkers, namely amyloid-beta (AB) and phosphorylated Tau (PT).

Exenatide reduced secreted neurofilament light chain (Nf-L) levels in ADBrain™ microtissues by approximately 40%, as shown below at 0.1 µM and 10 µM concentrations. Elevated Nf-L is a marker of cell stress and a putative biomarker used in blood-based bioassays to detect AD early in its progression. This result is consistent with Exenatide having a potential therapeutic benefit early in the disease process. In addition, Exenatide showed reductions in pro-inflammatory cytokine expression, notably IL-6 and IL-8. Neuroinflammation is a hallmark of a number of neurodegenerative diseases, including AD.

Invex Therapeutics Ltd
Half Year Report 31 December 2025

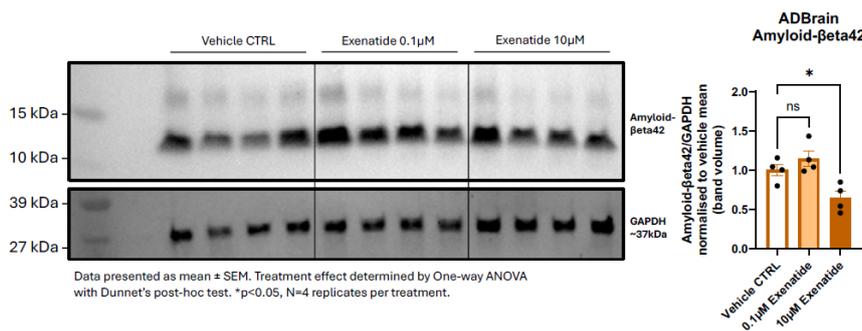

Effect of exenatide on Nf-L release into conditioned media of ADBrain

Levels of cell secreted Nf-L in ADBrain micro-tissues following 7-day exposure to 0.1 μ M exenatide, 10 μ M exenatide or basal non treated control (NTC). * $p < 0.05$

Although 10 μ M Exenatide was associated with a 35% decrease in AB burden, needs to be further interrogated as the decrease in AB in micro-tissues was concomitant with an increase in GAPDH, the housekeeping protein used to normalise the experiment, as shown below. Previous studies have indicated that Exenatide can reduce AB deposition, accumulation, and toxicity in animal models.

Effect of exenatide on amyloid beta ($A\beta$) biomarkers in ADBrain

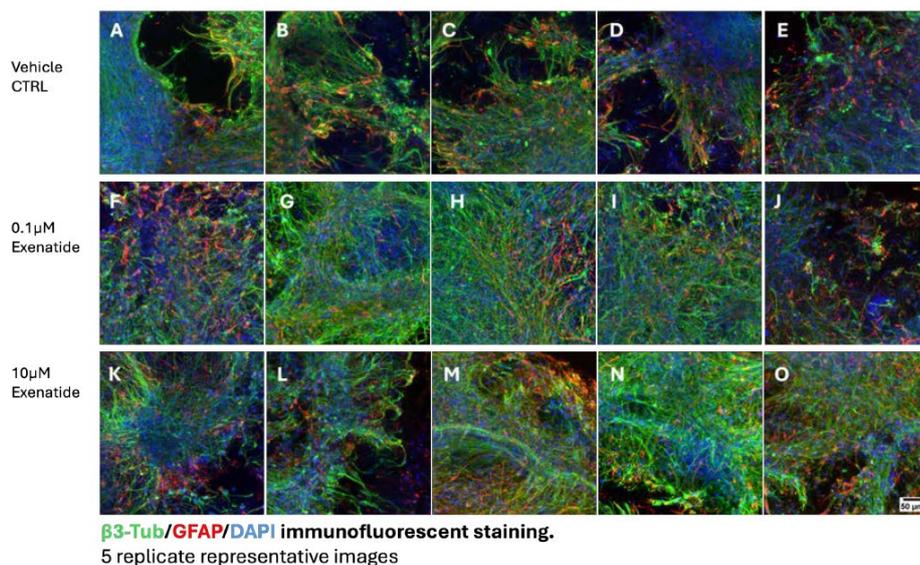

Data presented as mean \pm SEM. Treatment effect determined by One-way ANOVA with Dunnett's post-hoc test. * $p < 0.05$, N=4 replicates per treatment.

Measurement of $A\beta$ in ADBrain following exposure to exenatide. Western blot and matching graph of densitometric quantification are shown. Data is expressed relative to β -actin. Data shown are mean values \pm SEM.

Exenatide did not affect PT levels in ADBrain™ under the conditions tested. Exenatide did not significantly influence insulin-dependent glucose uptake in the ADBrain™ model under the tested conditions.

Although the analysis algorithm used by Tessara did not find any overall increase in the number of networks associated with Exenatide treatment, increases in network complexity measures such as neural branching, number of junctions and average branch length all suggest that Exenatide may have a positive effect on neuronal health in Tessara's ADBrain™ model, even at the relatively low dose of 0.1 μ M of Exenatide and 7 days exposure, as shown below.

ADBrain microtissues with exenatide treatment

Confocal images of ADBrain micro-tissues treated with exenatide and stained with specific antibodies to β (III)-tubulin (green), GFAP (red) and nuclei (blue). Vehicle Control treated micro-tissues (A-E), 0.1 μ M exenatide treated microtissues (F-J), and 10 μ M exenatide treated microtissues (K-O). Imaged on a Leica SP8 confocal microscope with 20x air objective. Max. projection images from 175 μ M 3D stacks (2.5 μ M step size, 70 images per stack), 1024 x 1024 resolution (581 x 581 microns), n=5 biological replicates per treatment.

Renewal of Orphan Drug Designation in Europe

During the period, the Company successfully renewed its orphan drug designation (ODD) for Exenatide in Europe relating to the treatment of Traumatic Brain Injury (TBI). This renewal complements the further two ODD's for Exenatide in the treatment of Idiopathic Intracranial Hypertension in Europe and the United States.

Review of investment pipeline opportunities

During the first quarter of the period, the Company announced that it had reviewed two investment opportunities in the field of neurological disease treatment. The Company continues to review and consider investment opportunities.

It is recommended that this financial report be read in conjunction with the annual financial report for the period ended 30 June 2025 and any public announcements made by Invex Therapeutics Ltd during the half year in accordance with continuous disclosure requirements arising under the Corporations Act 2001.

The consolidated entity has adopted all of the new or amended Accounting Standards and Interpretations issued by the Australian Accounting Standards Board (AASB) that are mandatory for the current reporting period.

Any new or amended Accounting Standards or Interpretations that are not yet mandatory have not been early adopted.

c) Changes to critical accounting estimates and judgements

The preparation of the Group’s condensed consolidated financial statements requires management to make judgements, estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of revenues, expenses, assets and liabilities, and the accompanying disclosures, and the disclosure of contingent liabilities. Uncertainty about these assumptions and estimates could result in outcomes that require a material adjustment to the carrying amount of asset or liabilities affected in future periods.

The critical accounting estimates and judgements adopted in the half year financial report are consistent with those applied in the preparation of the Group’s annual report for the period ended 30 June 2025.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REVIEW REPORT

To the members of Invex Therapeutics Ltd

Report on the Half-Year Financial Report

Conclusion

We have reviewed the half-year financial report of Invex Therapeutics Ltd (the Company) and its subsidiaries (the Group), which comprises the condensed consolidated statement of financial position as at 31 December 2025, the condensed consolidated statement of profit or loss and other comprehensive income, the condensed consolidated statement of changes in equity and the condensed consolidated statement of cash flows for the half-year ended on that date, material accounting policy information and other explanatory information, and the directors' declaration.

Based on our review, which is not an audit, we have not become aware of any matter that makes us believe that the accompanying half-year financial report of the Group does not comply with the Corporations Act 2001 including:

- i. Giving a true and fair view of the Group's financial position as at 31 December 2025 and of its financial performance for the half-year ended on that date; and
- ii. Complying with Accounting Standard AASB 134 Interim Financial Reporting and the Corporations Regulations 2001.

Basis for conclusion

We conducted our review in accordance with ASRE 2410 Review of a Financial Report Performed by the Independent Auditor of the Entity. Our responsibilities are further described in the Auditor's Responsibilities for the Review of the Financial Report section of our report. We are independent of the Group in accordance with the auditor independence requirements of the Corporations Act 2001 and the ethical requirements of the Accounting Professional and Ethical Standards Board's APES 110 Code of Ethics for Professional Accountants (including Independence Standards) (the Code) that are relevant to the audit of the annual financial report in Australia. We have also fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with the Code.

We confirm that the independence declaration required by the Corporations Act 2001 which has been given to the directors of the Company, would be the same terms if given to the directors as at the time of this auditor's review report.

Responsibility of the directors for the financial report

The directors of the Company are responsible for the preparation of the half-year financial report that gives a true and fair view in accordance with Australian Accounting Standards and the Corporations Act 2001 and for such internal control as the directors determine is necessary to enable the preparation of the half-year financial report that gives a true and fair view and is free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor's responsibility for the review of the financial report

Our responsibility is to express a conclusion on the half-year financial report based on our review. ASRE 2410 requires us to conclude whether we have become aware of any matter that makes us believe that the half-year financial report is not in accordance with the Corporations Act 2001 including giving a true and fair view of the Group's financial position as at 31 December 2025 and its financial performance for the half-year ended on that date and complying with Accounting Standard AASB 134 Interim Financial Reporting and the Corporations Regulations 2001.

A review of a half-year financial report consists of making enquiries, primarily of persons responsible for financial and accounting matters, and applying analytical and other review procedures. A review is substantially less in scope than an audit conducted in accordance with Australian Auditing Standards and consequently does not enable us to obtain assurance that we would become aware of all significant matters that might be identified in an audit. Accordingly, we do not express an audit opinion.
