

ASX Announcement

3 March 2026

Summit Minerals Limited renamed to Western Ridge Resources Limited

Western Ridge Resources Limited (ASX:WRX) (“Western Ridge” or the “Company”) is pleased to advise that, following shareholder approval at the Company’s General Meeting on 27 February 2026, the Company has formally rebranded.

The Company’s name has been registered with the Australian Securities and Investment Commission (‘ASIC’) and, as Western Ridge, the Company will begin trading on the Australian Securities Exchange (‘ASX’) under ticker code WRX as of 4 March 2026.

The name change reflects the Company’s strategic evolution, following the recent acquisition of the polymetallic Keystone Project in Nevada, which hosts strong potential high-grade silver, gold and tungsten mineralisation. Under new leadership, Western Ridge is systematically advancing Keystone while building long-term value across its broader portfolio.

Western Ridge’s Managing Director, Dr Matthew Cobb, commented:

“Western Ridge Resources marks a new chapter for the Company, reflecting a clear strategic alignment between the Board and management to unlock value across our portfolio. The acquisition of the Keystone Project late last year provides a compelling platform in a tier-one jurisdiction, within a historically underexplored region with strong high-grade silver potential.

“Keystone aligns with Western Ridge’s focus on critical and technology metals, including silver and tungsten, which are essential inputs for advanced and emerging technologies. With demand forecast to grow amid tightening supply, the Company is well positioned to support future supply needs and deliver sustainable shareholder value.”

This announcement has been approved by the Board of Directors.
