HARVEST TO RELEASE DEFENCE STRATEGY UPDATE

Harvest Technology Group Limited (ASX: HTG) advises that it expects to release an update to the market outlining the Company's Defence Strategy and implementation approach before the end of March 2026.

The Defence Strategy has been developed following an extensive program of engagement with defence sector stakeholders and independent advisers, together with an internal assessment of the Company's technology capabilities and potential applications within the defence sector.

The strategy is intended to outline the Company's approach to further developing opportunities within the defence sector and will include priority focus areas and initiatives designed to support the Company's medium-term growth objectives.

The Board considers the defence sector to represent a strategic vertical for the Company given the alignment between certain defence sector requirements and the Company's existing technology capabilities.

The Company notes that the Defence Strategy is currently under development and no material commercial outcomes have been finalised at this stage.

The Company will provide further details on the Defence Strategy once the Board's review process has been completed.

Authorised for release by the Board of Harvest Technology Group Limited.
