ABOUT NEXALIS THERAPEUTICS LTD (ASX: NX1)

Nexalis Therapeutics Ltd is an Australian Clinical Stage Drug Development Company that is developing rapid onset, inhaled therapies to address unmet medical needs in pain management and mental health sectors. The Company has secured a funding partner with a facility of up to $52.3m to accelerate the development of IRX-211 to treat Breakthrough Cancer Pain ('BTcP'), IRX-616a to treat Panic Disorder ('PD') and SRX-25 for the treatment of Treatment-Resistant Depression ('TRD').

The overarching goal is to pursue U.S. FDA approval and registration using rapid and cost-effective regulatory pathways, such as 505(b)(2).

There is a significant economic opportunity for NX1 and the Company's shareholders, the clinical indications under investigation have been carefully selected in consultation with regulatory authorities. Bringing new approved medications to market will address critical gaps whereby there's currently mismatched treatment options that can carry dependency concerns.
