REPAYMENT OF DIRECTOR AND COMPANY SECRETARY LOANS

Careteq Limited (ASX: CTQ) (“Careteq” or “the Company”), a clinical healthtech company specialising in innovative solutions for the home care and disability sector, is pleased to advise that, following the successful completion of the Company’s recent capital raising, it has repaid in full the working capital loans previously provided by members of the Board and the Company Secretary.

As announced on 10 June 2025, Careteq entered into binding loan agreements with each of the Company’s Directors and the Company Secretary, totalling A$125,000, to support the working capital position of the Company. The loans accrued interest at 12% per annum, capitalised and added to the face value, and were due for repayment on 4 June 2026.

The loans have been repaid approximately one month ahead of their contractual maturity, in each case for the original principal amount plus capitalised interest accrued from date funds were received to the date of repayment.

Strengthened Balance Sheet

The repayment of the Director loans reflects the strengthened balance sheet position following the Company's recently completed capital raising and represents the prompt return of working capital extended by the Board at a critical period for the Company.

The Board considers the early settlement of these related-party loans an appropriate use of a portion of the placement proceeds, removing the related-party indebtedness from the Company's balance sheet ahead of maturity and reinforcing alignment between the Board and shareholders. The balance of the placement proceeds will continue to be applied in accordance with the use-of-funds disclosure made to the market on 10 March 2026, including project acquisitions and general working capital purposes.

Each director, as a related party of the Company, is taken to have received a financial benefit in the amount of the accrued interest repaid. The Board considers the interest paid to be on arm's length commercial terms, consistent with the terms agreed and disclosed at the time the loans were entered into.

The Board thanks the directors for their continued financial support to the Company.
