Titomic Appoints Former Lockheed Martin Executive Doug Graham to U.S. Strategic Advisory Group

HUNTSVILLE, AL — Titomic Limited (ASX: TTT), a global leader in cold spray additive manufacturing using its proprietary Titomic Kinetic Fusion™ technology, is pleased to announce the appointment of Doug Graham to its U.S. Strategic Advisory Group (SAG), further strengthening the company's strategic depth across aerospace and defense markets.

Doug Graham brings decades of leadership experience in advanced aerospace and defense programs, having most recently served as a Vice President at Lockheed Martin. Throughout his career, he has played a critical role in the development and execution of complex, mission-critical systems, including advanced weapons, space systems, and next-generation defense technologies. His expertise spans program execution, customer engagement, and transitioning advanced technologies into operational capability—capabilities that align closely with Titomic's strategic growth objectives.

Mr. Graham joins a distinguished U.S. Strategic Advisory Group that includes Jim Chilton, Rich Choppa, Andrew Haeuptle, Michael Kirkpatrick, John Schumacher, and Dr. John Stopher — a group comprised of highly accomplished leaders with deep experience across defense, space, and national security domains.

Jim Simpson, CEO and Managing Director of Titomic, commented:

"Titomic continues to build and expand the breadth and depth of expertise within our Strategic Advisory Groups in the U.S. as well as Europe as we position the company for rapid growth across critical aerospace, defense and general industrial markets. The collective experience and insight of this group provide invaluable guidance as we scale our capabilities and pursue mission-critical opportunities. Doug is a significant addition—his experience in advanced programs and operationalizing complex technologies will play a key role in helping Titomic accelerate adoption and deliver impactful solutions to our customers."

Simpson added:

"Our Strategic Advisory Groups represents a cornerstone of Titomic's strategy—bringing together seasoned leaders whose insights and guidance enable us to navigate complex markets and execute with precision. Doug's addition to our U.S. SAG further strengthens this foundation and enhances our ability to capitalize on the growing demand for advanced manufacturing solutions in national security and defense."

Doug Graham said:

"I am pleased to join Titomic's U.S. Strategic Advisory Group at a time of strong momentum for the company. Titomic's Cold Spray technology represents an innovative and potentially transformative capability for defense and aerospace applications, particularly in enabling rapid manufacturing, repair, and sustainment of mission-critical systems. I look forward to supporting the team as they continue to scale and deliver on these opportunities."

Titomic's Strategic Advisory Groups plays a critical role in advising the company's leadership on strategic growth initiatives, market positioning, and engagement with key stakeholders across government and industry. The addition of Doug Graham underscores Titomic's commitment to aligning world-class expertise with its mission to industrialize advanced manufacturing solutions at scale.

This announcement has been authorized for release by Titomic's Board of Directors.
