CFO Change

Bravura Solutions Limited (ASX: BVS) (Bravura or the Company) announces that Neil Montford will step down as CFO and Joint Company Secretary. Mr Montford will remain in the role until 14 August 2026 to ensure an orderly transition.

Mr Montford said “When I joined Bravura, the business was at an inflection point. Restoring profitability required hard decisions taken quickly and a restructuring across the organisation. This was successfully completed while strengthening our relationships with customers and providing stability to our employees.”

“I am proud of what the team has accomplished and of the turnaround now evident in the results. With Bravura on a firmer footing, this is the right moment to hand over to a successor who can take Bravura into the next phase of its journey. I’d like to thank the great Bravura team, the Directors, our customers and advisers for their support during my tenure as CFO.”

Bravura Chair, Russell Baskerville, said “On behalf of the Board, I thank Neil for his outstanding contribution and for his continued commitment through the handover period. The turnaround he has delivered is a significant achievement, and the business is in a markedly stronger position as a result. We wish him every success in the next stage of his career.”

Bravura will commence a comprehensive international search for its next CFO and an Australian-based joint Company Secretary.
