Notional derivatives exposure information – May 2026

The following notional derivatives exposure information is provided for the Betashares Geared Long US Treasury Bond Currency Hedged Complex ETF (ASX: GGFD) (Fund), as at the close of trading on 29 May 2026.

Fund net asset value	Notional derivatives exposure	Notional derivatives exposure as a percentage of the Fund's net asset value
$3,868,606	$10,281,047	265.76%

The investment objective of the Fund is to provide unitholders with geared long exposure to the returns of US Treasury Bonds with a term to maturity of approximately 10 years, hedged to Australian dollars. As described in the PDS (available at www.betashares.com.au), the Fund aims to achieve its investment objective by investing its assets into cash and cash equivalents and buying CME Ultra 10-Year US Treasury Note Futures contracts. It is anticipated that the Fund's geared long exposure to the relevant US Treasury Bond will generally vary between 250% and 300% of its net asset value on a given day.

There are risks associated with an investment in the Fund, including market risk, gearing risk, rebalancing and compounding risk, and futures risk. Investment value can go up and down. An investment in the Fund should only be considered as a small part of a broader portfolio, taking into account your particular circumstances, including your tolerance for risk.

Investors should actively monitor their investment as frequently as daily to ensure it continues to meet their investment objectives.

Gearing magnifies gains and losses and may not be a suitable strategy for all investors. An investment in the Fund is very high risk in nature and should only be made by informed investors who fully understand the risks of gearing.
