Patent infringement claim update

Further detail on Exceptional Case and Attorneys' Fees motion

23 June 2026 - Identitii (ASX:ID8) (‘Identitii’, ‘the Company’) (ASX:ID8) provides the following update on its US patent infringement claim against JPMorgan Chase (JPMC).

On 22 June 2026 (US time), JPMC filed an unredacted copy of its opening brief in support of the motion seeking a declaration that the Company’s case is exceptional and requesting an award of attorneys' fees. The brief contains several matters the Company considers shareholders should be aware of.

Grounds for the motion. JPMC sets out three grounds for its motion, that the Company’s: (1) patent eligibility arguments were objectively weak considering existing precedent; (2) infringement contentions relied on unsourced and unverified material; and (3) claim construction positions shifted repeatedly during the litigation.

Fee quantum. JPMC is seeking approximately US$4 million in attorneys’ fees. This figure was not previously available publicly on the court’s docket.

Reference to the Company’s financial position. JPMC’s brief references Identitii’s latest quarterly activity report and financial position. JPMC is asking the Court not to delay its fee motion pending resolution of the Company’s Federal Circuit appeal.

The Company’s position

The Company, supported by its US counsel and litigation fund, strongly disagrees with JPMC’s characterisation of its conduct and will oppose the motion. The Company’s view is that this is not an exceptional case, and is appealing the District Court’s dismissal of the case on § 101 grounds with the US Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit. The appeal is unaffected by the fee motion.

The Company will continue to update shareholders on material developments in both the fee motion and the appeal.

Impact on operations

The US patent matter is separate from Identitii's commercial operations. BNDRY, the Company's financial crime compliance infrastructure for Australian venues operating electronic gaming machines, continues to operate as normal, unimpacted by the ruling.

Ends

This announcement has been approved and authorised to be given to ASX by the CEO of Identitii Limited.
