Chevron Expands Swift TV Rollout with Further 1,900 Device Order

Swift TV Ltd (ASX: STV) is pleased to announce it has received purchase orders from Chevron for a further 1,900 Swift TV devices, expanding deployment of the Swift TV platform across Chevron's Barrow Island and Wheatstone Offshore accommodation facilities.

The additional order follows the successful deployment of more than 2,000 Swift TV devices at Chevron's Wheatstone Onshore Village and expands Swift TV's installed base across Chevron accommodation sites to approximately 3,900 devices and replaces the sites existing Swift system. The expanded deployment reflects Chevron's continued confidence in the Swift TV platform following the initial rollout.

Swift TV is Swift's Google-certified and Netflix-approved connected TV product delivering an in-room engagement and streaming entertainment solution for enterprise customers.

Swift TV integrates Swift's proprietary enterprise software with Google-certified hardware, providing enterprise customers with a modern connected TV platform purpose-built for accommodation environments, enabling easy streaming plus access to Swift's new release movies.

The expanded deployment further strengthens Swift TV's position within remote workforce accommodation and demonstrates the platform's scalability across large enterprise accommodation portfolios.

Swift CEO & Managing Director, Brian Mangano, commented:

"Scaling the rollout of Swift TV remains our key focus following the product's commercial launch in May. Receiving additional device orders from Chevron, following the successful completion of the initial deployment, is a strong endorsement of both the platform and our ability to execute at scale."

"The rollout also further strengthens Swift TV's position within workforce accommodation as customers increasingly adopt modern, connected enterprise platforms. We look forward to continuing to expand our relationship with Chevron and Compass Group while supporting additional Swift TV deployments."
