Vmoto and Uber Partnership Renewal and Electrification of Food Delivery in the Netherlands

On 23 June 2025, global electric vehicle company, Vmoto Limited (ASX: VMT) ("Vmoto", or the "Company") announced that it has secured an international partnership with Uber to accelerate the transition of Uber delivery partners to zero-emission electric motorcycles/mopeds.

The partnership established long-term cooperation for Vmoto offering (for purchase, rent or lease) its products to Uber Partners in a number of cities in Europe and the UK to be used for transportation and logistics services via the Uber Platform. Uber is aiming to transition 100,000 motorbike couriers to electric mopeds across seven European and UK markets by 2030. Vmoto's CPx e-moped is currently the most popular e-moped model in the UK and is widely used across Europe.

Uber and Vmoto have renewed the international partnership for a further term to April 2027. In addition, Vmoto and Uber have agreed to an automatic renewal for successive periods of 12 months following the above renewal, unless terminated by either party.

In addition, Vmoto together with its supplier partners will offer exclusive discounts on vehicles as well as rental, maintenance and charging services to couriers in the Netherlands. These discounts could save couriers hundreds of euros by switching to Vmoto e-mopeds. Together with Uber, Vmoto aims to electrify food delivery in the Netherlands.

Vmoto's Managing Director, Mr Charles Chen said, "We would like to thank Uber for their trust and support, and for their professionalism and efficient collaboration throughout this process. This partnership renewal marks a new beginning. We will deepen our cooperation with Uber across technological innovation, market expansion and user experience. We firmly believe that, against the backdrop of the continuous evolution of global mobility and service platforms, our cooperation will create more value for both Vmoto and Uber."
