

28 August 2026
ASX Market Release

Nuchev Expands into Women's Health with Kuci National Rollout

Nuchev Limited (ASX: NUC) (Nuchev or the Company) is pleased to announce that it has entered into an exclusive distribution agreement with Biomera Biotics Pty Ltd (ACN 694 953 725) (Biomera) supporting the exclusive national rollout of the Kuci women's health range through Chemist Warehouse (the Agreement).

Kuci women's health range

Kuci is a science-led women's health brand offering a range of targeted probiotic products developed around the changing health needs of women across all life stages.

The range brings together clinically researched probiotic ingredients with a modern consumer brand and is designed to make targeted women's health therapeutic complementary medicine products more accessible through a national pharmacy channel.

Strategic rationale

Kuci expands Nuchev's portfolio into women's health and adds a new retail growth platform alongside the Company's existing infant nutrition, practitioner health and functional nutrition businesses.

The arrangement supports Nuchev's strategy of using its existing sales, distribution and customer infrastructure to grow revenue across new products, categories and channels.

Kuci is expected to contribute incremental revenue and margin as the brand builds through Chemist Warehouse, Practitioner and Health Channels and forms part of Nuchev's broader path to profitable growth.

Nuchev's Chief Executive Officer, Nathan Cheong, said:

"Kuci is a strong strategic fit for Nuchev. It brings a differentiated women's health range into a national retail channel and allows us to use the infrastructure and customer relationships we already have in place.

This is the type of opportunity we have been focused on as part of our path to profitable growth — adding new products and categories through our existing platform while remaining disciplined around working capital."

Commercial arrangement

Under the Agreement, Biomera will supply the Kuci range to Nuchev on consignment and will remain responsible for product supply and agreed brand and channel investment.

Nuchev will manage the sale and distribution of the range through Chemist Warehouse and other agreed channels and will earn a margin on products sold.

The consignment structure is expected to limit Nuchev's inventory and working capital exposure compared with a traditional buy-and-sell distribution model.

The Agreement does not contain minimum purchase commitments. The financial contribution to Nuchev will depend on consumer demand and product sell-through.

Nuchev is not providing separate earnings guidance in relation to the Agreement.

Related-party disclosure

Biomera is a related party of Nuchev. Biomera is wholly owned by Biomera Group Pty Ltd, which is owned 40% by CS Mana Pty Ltd as trustee for the CS Mana Trust and 60% by H&S Global Holdings Pty Ltd ACN 643 475 601 as trustee for the H&S Investment Unit Trust.

Craig Silbery, by virtue of his interest in Biomera, and Meng Zhang, by virtue of his roles within H&S Group, declared their respective interests and did not participate in the Board's consideration or approval of the Agreement.

The Agreement was considered and approved by Nuchev's non-conflicted directors, who considered the commercial terms and the strategic and financial benefits of the arrangement to Nuchev.

This announcement has been approved for release by the Board.

For further information please contact:

Nathan Cheong
Chief Executive Officer
nathan.cheong@nuchev.com.au

About Nuchev Limited

Nuchev is an Australian nutrition, wellness and health-products business. Its portfolio includes Oli6®, BioPractica and Medicine Tree, together with a range of health and wellness products distributed or sold under exclusive licence in Australia and New Zealand. Products are sold through grocery, pharmacy, practitioner, digital and selected international channels. Oli6® is sold through major Australian grocery and pharmacy channels and in selected international markets, including China Cross-Border E-Commerce, Vietnam and Cambodia. Nuchev also distributes Brauer, Skin Physics and Rapid Loss products in Australia. Nuchev is Inspiring healthier, happier futures for all and is committed to sourcing high-quality ingredients and working with established Australian manufacturing partners to deliver quality products for consumers.