Swift TV Managing Director and CEO, Brian Mangano, will present an update on the Company's growth strategy, including the continued expansion of its established enterprise technology business and the opportunity emerging in aged care and the broader health sector.

Swift is an established Australian enterprise technology business providing entertainment, communications and engagement solutions to organisations operating across a range of sectors.

The presentation will focus on Swift's recent operational and commercial progress, its strategy for growing recurring revenues across its established markets, and the expansion of its technology platform into aged care. Mr Mangano will also discuss the opportunity for health to become an increasingly important growth market for Swift as the Company builds its presence and customer base in the sector.

Following the presentation, Mr Mangano will participate in a moderated Q&A session, providing investors with the opportunity to put questions directly to management.

Investors are encouraged to register in advance using the link above. Questions can be submitted during the webinar through the Q&A function.

A recording of the webinar will be made available following the event.
