Annual portfolio turnover over the last 12 months is computed by taking the lesser of purchases or sales and dividing by the average monthly net assets. Annualised standard deviation, Downside capture ratio and Portfolio beta are all reported since the fund's inception. Downside capture is calculated using the geometric average returns.

FUND & MARKET COMMENTARY

- The Equity Income Fund – Complex ETF (EQIN) was up 0.6% for the month, but behind the benchmark's rise of +1.6%, mainly due to a very strong month for resources stocks where we remain cautious due to their cyclical nature. The fund continues to comfortably achieve its primary objectives of higher income and lower volatility than the ASX300.
- The fund had many strong performers including CSL +39.4% as it continued to rise from oversold levels: it's now up over 90% from its lows. Steadfast, +14.3%, and Cleanaway, +11.1%, were also up significantly after M&A activity. The Lottery Corporation was disappointing, dropping -9.3% as a highly unusual lack of large lottery jackpots reduced its yearly profit, however its longer-term prospects and market position remain unchanged.
- The fund capitalised on price volatility during reporting season to generate additional portfolio income by selectively writing options across holdings including CSL, SGH and Sigma Healthcare.
- The war in the Middle East is unpredictable and continues to evolve. Inflation is heading higher in many parts of the world and the longer-term damage to the global economy continues to climb while the conflict remains unresolved. Meanwhile, concerns remain around US tariffs and the impact of AI. In Australia, higher persistent inflation and a resilient economy has led the RBA to raise rates three times this year already, with further rises now likely. Our focus on quality businesses with more defensive, recurring earnings positions us well for any continued volatility or slowdown in the global and Australian economies, as we saw during reporting season.
