COMMENTARY

MARKET ACTIVITY

Usually a quieter issuance month due to Northern Hemisphere summer holidays, August was an unusually active month for the Australian securitisation market, with issuance spanning Prime / Non-Conforming RMBS and a broad range of ABS.

Despite market uncertainty surrounding inflation, geopolitical developments, falling house prices and softer economic conditions, Australian RMBS and ABS continue to attract strong support from global institutional investors. This confidence reflects the significant structural protections available to bondholders, including borrower equity, lender's mortgage insurance, excess spread and bond subordination. Together, these protections provide substantial credit enhancement and create multiple layers of defence against credit losses.

HIGHER RATES KEEP BORROWER DIFFERENCES IN FOCUS

The economic backdrop became less supportive during August. Stronger-than-expected inflation<sup>a</sup> increased expectations that interest rates may need to rise further, while National housing prices fell in August, marking the fifth consecutive monthly decline and leaving values approximately 4.6% below their peak<sup>b</sup>. While softer housing prices warrant close attention, it is a common misconception that falling house prices automatically result in losses for RMBS investors. In reality, bondholders benefit from multiple layers of protection. Borrowers typically retain equity in their properties, many loans are supported by mortgage insurance, and securitisation structures include excess spread and subordinated capital that absorb losses before bondholders are affected. These structural protections provide a significant buffer against housing market weakness and have historically helped Australian RMBS remain resilient through previous periods of house price declines.

Prime mortgage arrears remained below their longer-term average in the latest available data, with pressure concentrated among borrowers with higher leverage, larger loan balances or less conventional income documentation.

The widening difference between borrower cohorts reinforces the importance of assessing risk at a granular level. In this environment, preserving flexibility and maintaining credit standards are more valuable than pursuing growth for its own sake.

For GCI, this reinforces the importance of loan-level analysis, issuer selection and maintaining exposure to transactions with strong structural protection.

CAPITAL RAISED WITH CLEAR PATH TO DEPLOYMENT

Subsequent to month end, GCI completed an A$86.25 million wholesale Placement of 43.125 million new units at A$2.00 per unit. The funds raised will support incremental portfolio management consistent with GCI's investment strategy. The Responsible Entity also intends to offer eligible existing unitholders the opportunity to apply for up to A$30,000 of additional units through a Unit Purchase Plan, with further details to be released in due course.

Our approach to capital management remains asset led. Since GCI's IPO in May 2018, we have only raised capital when there is a clear path to deployment and take only the amount we believe the available opportunities can support.

Additional scale can increase diversification, broaden GCI's participation across the RMBS and ABS market, support liquidity for unitholders and reduce operating costs per unit. These benefits are only meaningful where capital can be invested consistently with GCI's existing strategy.

Disclaimer: Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future performance. All investments carry risks, including that the value of investments may vary, future returns may differ from past returns, and that your capital is not guaranteed. The comparison to the RBA Cash Rate is not intended to compare an investment in GCI to a cash holding. The RBA Cash Rate is displayed as a reference to the target return for GCI. The GCI investment portfolio is of higher risk than an investment in cash. To understand the Trust's risks better, please refer to the most recent PDS available at www.gcainvest.com/our-lit.

(1) Actual distribution as % of NTA, assuming distribution reinvestment. (2) Inception date — 21 May 2018. (3) Target Return = RBA Cash Rate + 3.50% p.a. (4) Arithmetic (5) Current month distribution as % of NTA, annualised. (6) Includes GST, net of reduced input tax credits. (7) Current month distribution as % of NTA, annualised.
