About Strike Energy

Strike Energy (ASX: STX) is a Western Australian independent energy explorer and producer, developing gas from the Perth Basin and Mid-West region. Our primary objective is to provide reliable energy to support Western Australia's energy transition away from coal. Strike holds one of the most strategically significant positions in the onshore Perth Basin, spanning both the Permian gas play in the north and the Jurassic wet-gas play in the south. This unique footprint underpins our integrated portfolio of gas and gas-to-power developments.
