Veris secures contract to continue work on Sydney Metro - Western Sydney Airport

- Veris secures contract extension on the Sydney Metro - Western Sydney Airport SSTOM project, covering continued multi-disciplinary engineering survey, asset monitoring and cadastral work.
- Builds on work already delivered and secured on the project since Veris' initial engagement in November 2023.
- Reinforces Veris' long-standing partnership with the Parklife Metro Consortium delivering Australia's biggest public transport project.

Digital and spatial data advisory and consulting firm Veris Limited (ASX:VRS), ('Veris' or 'the Company') is pleased to announce a contract extension on the Sydney Metro - Western Sydney Airport Stations, Systems, Trains, Operations, and Maintenance (SSTOM) project with the Parklife Metro Consortium

The $4.12 million contract builds on work already delivered and secured under Veris' engagement with the Parklife Metro Consortium since November 2023. The contract will see Veris continue to draw on its multi-disciplinary engineering survey, asset monitoring and cadastral survey capabilities through to the end of 2027. The SSTOM Package is delivered by the Parklife Metro Consortium, comprising Plenary, WeBuild, Siemens and RATP Dev, as part of Parklife Metro's 15-year contract to operate and maintain Sydney Metro.

Michael Shirley, Managing Director and Chief Executive Officer of Veris, said:

"Securing this extension on the SSTOM project is a strong endorsement of the work our team has delivered on the Western Sydney Airport project since 2023. It reflects both the depth of our relationship with the Parklife Metro Consortium and our ability to convert quality delivery into further opportunities. We look forward to continuing to support this nationally significant infrastructure program."

Pipeline and Outlook

Veris has a strong, secured forward workload in excess of $60 million and a weighted opportunity pipeline exceeding $195 million.
