YYG2 Launches as Part of Apple Indie Games Week

Noodlecake has launched Yes, Your Grace 2: Snowfall (YYG2) across the Apple App Store and Google Play, having completed the mobile adaptation and publishing of the title under its agreement with independent developer Brave At Night (ASX: 12 January 2026).

Coinciding with the launch, Apple selected Yes, Your Grace 2: Snowfall as one of seven key titles highlighted in its App Store Indie Games Week, alongside established titles including No Man's Sky and Sifu. Announced on 12 October 2026, the campaign features selected games through App Store editorials and curated collections throughout the week.

Apple's curated App Store features provide additional organic visibility and user-acquisition opportunities, allowing selected titles to reach broader audiences without equivalent paid marketing expenditure. For the Company, the inclusion provides additional storefront exposure for Yes, Your Grace 2: Snowfall during its initial mobile launch period.

The mobile launch follows the original Yes, Your Grace, which has surpassed 1.6 million mobile installs and generated more than A$1 million in cumulative mobile revenue across iOS and Android, including Google Play Pass royalties. These historical figures are not indicative of the sequel's future performance.

“ Launching Yes, Your Grace 2: Snowfall on mobile marks our second collaboration with Brave At Night, and it's great to see the game included in Apple's Indie Games Week alongside other great independent titles.
