ASX ANNOUNCEMENT

Gratificii Signs Three-Year Agreement with Qantas and Goes Live Through its Online Marketplace

Ticketmates Australia Pty Ltd ('Ticketmates'), a wholly owned subsidiary of Gratificii Limited (ASX: GTI) ('Gratificii' or the 'Company'), announces that its online marketplace is now live for members of the Qantas Frequent Flyer program, delivering its movies and experiences catalogue under a binding three-year agreement with Qantas Airways Limited ('Qantas').

The deal was made possible through Gratificii's strategic partnership with Marketplacer, the technology that powers online marketplaces. This partnership has expanded the Company's ability to deliver not only its traditional offerings such as movies, experiences and attractions, but also a wide range of other drop ship suppliers, directly through its platform.

The Company considers the agreement material for Gratificii, as it opens a major new enterprise distribution channel for Gratificii's cinema and attractions network and is expected to lift ticket volumes over the initial three-year term. Revenue will depend on redemption volumes, so the financial impact cannot yet be reliably quantified. The agreement is not subject to any material conditions precedent.

Gratificii CEO and Managing Director Iain Dunstan commented:

"Going live puts our movies and experiences in front of 18 million Qantas Frequent Flyer members and delivers on the pipeline of partnerships we signalled to the market. Our partnership with Marketplacer made it happen. A single API connection let a partner of this scale go live quickly, with minimal technical lift on either side, and the ability to add new products in real time."

This announcement has been authorised for release by the Board of Gratificii Limited.
