About Elsight

Elsight (ASX: ELS) (www.elsight.com) develops technology that enables uncrewed operations. Its flagship Halo platform combines cellular, satellite and radio-frequency links to provide resilient connectivity for unmanned systems. Elsight is broadening its portfolio beyond connectivity, beginning with software-based positioning for GNSS-denied environments and investing in video and autonomy capabilities. The Company's products serve defence, public safety and commercial markets across air, land and maritime applications.
