WHO WE ARE

The Market Leader in B2B Intelligence for the Global Resource Sectors

For 190 years Aspermont has been the trusted source of news, research and intelligence for the people who build, finance and supply the global resources industries — “The FT meets The Economist for mining.” A high-margin, recurring-revenue subscriptions engine, now extending into proprietary data & intelligence products enhanced by AI. By pairing our trusted brand and deep archive with AI-driven automation, we can create and deliver new data products at low marginal cost — accelerating growth and delivering higher-margin, recurring returns for shareholders.

Three Engines, One Inflection

Our growth priorities: converting readers into multi-year Enterprise subscription contracts and scaling proprietary data & intelligence products — the highest-margin, most scalable engines, all accelerated by AI.

1 Subscriptions

GROWING & COMPOUNDING

Ten years of growth, June 2016 to June 2026. ARR $11.6m at 30 Sep incl. data licensing. 15.5% ARPU CAGR. The engine that self-funds the build.

FY27 role: 80% → 90% gross retention; seats → enterprise; full-funnel acquisition rebuild.

2 Transactional

EMERGING GROWTH PHASE

FY26 non-subscriptions revenue $5.0m, up 4%: Nexus +127%, digital advertising and events in growth. Tier-1 OEM Nexus contract signed in Q4.

FY27 role: convert Nexus pipeline; scale solutions selling; grow Future of Mining.

3 Data & Intelligence

COMPLEMENTARY BUILD

Data pipeline live across ~55 sources; Rio Tinto data licence in delivery.
Proof-of-concepts with 10 Tier-1 miners from November 2026.

FY27 role: productisation; beta this calendar year; initial Data revenue CY27.

From selling content seats to selling enterprise decisions.

GUIDANCE SCORECARD

"FY26 was a planned investment year. Our subscriptions engine completed ten years of growth, and we built the Data & Intelligence business. Q4 signed a lighthouse Tier-1 OEM Nexus contract delivering through FY27, and proof-of-concepts with 10 Tier-1 miners for our new D&I platforms begin in November."

Alex Kent, Managing Director

Subscriptions revenue growth FY26 target: 10%+	BELOW TARGET — ARR +4% to $11.6m (incl. data licensing). FY27: replaced by Subscriptions Revenue growth guidance; levers: acquisition build, Year-1 retention, GRR/NRR expansion, Enterprise Agreements.
ARPU growth FY26 target: 15%+	BELOW TARGET — ARPU +7%. 1,000+ subscribers upgraded to Premium Mining-IQ. FY27 growth levers: Enterprise Agreement and account-based programs in core ICP market.
Operating cash flow Target: positive from H2 FY27	AFFIRMED (revised June 2026) — stable operating burn from Q2 to Q4; Q4 ($0.3m); closing cash $1.6m, no debt; 5.3 quarters of funding. Tier-1 OEM Nexus contract signed; second contract expected H1 FY27. FY27 growth levers: Nexus growth, Data & Intelligence revenues emerging and Enterprise Agreements.
Normalised EBITDA & margins FY26 target: improved	INVESTMENT YEAR — FY26 normalised EBITDA ($1.3m) as the Data & Intelligence build was funded. FY27 path to positive exit EBITDA. FY27 levers: Process and productivity optimisation via AI tool adoption and program implementations.

Q4 FY26 REVENUE BRIDGE

What Moved Q4 Revenue — Timing, Not Demand

Excluding events timing, Q4 revenue was down 5%. Subscriptions held flat; digital advertising grew; the gap is Nexus contract timing and legacy print. Including $0.5m of revenue on contracts signed in the quarter that starts in FY27, Q4 would have been $3.9m — above Q4 FY25 excluding events ($3.6m).

[1]Future of Mining Australia was held in Q3 in FY26 (Q4 in FY25). [2]Revenue on contracts signed in Q4 FY26; recognised from FY27, shown for illustration. Management accounts; preliminary, unaudited; subject to rounding.

Growth Engines Now Offsetting Legacy Decline — FY26 vs FY25

Subscriptions & Data Licensing	10.2	10.2	Flat	67%
Growth lines: Nexus, digital advertising, events	3.7	3.2	+15%	24%
Legacy: print advertising & lead generation	1.4	1.7	(17%)	9%
Excluding FY25 other income, revenue from continuing operations: $15.2m vs $15.0m, +1%
Other income	—	0.4
Total revenue	15.2	15.4

— Growth lines up 15%: Nexus +127%, digital advertising +5%, events +9% — now 24% of revenue
— Legacy print advertising and lead generation down 17% — now just 9% of revenue
— Subscriptions & Data Licensing flat at $10.2m, including first data licensing revenue (Rio Tinto)
— Revenue-line splits from management accounts; totals subject to rounding. Preliminary, unaudited.

Non-Executive Chair
Ex Merrill Lynch

Michael brings decades of financial markets expertise. He currently advises several large ASX-listed companies on capital markets strategy, investor engagement, and governance, including businesses operating subscription-led, data, and intelligence-based models.

Michael held senior roles in equity research at Merrill Lynch during the 1990s and early 2000s, covering a range of sectors and business models.

He has followed Aspermont for an extended period and brings a well-informed external perspective on the Company's strategy and long-term positioning.

Alex Kent

Managing Director
Ex Microsoft

MD since 2015, having joined Aspermont in 2007 as Head of Search, where he built and launched vertical semantic search engines across the company's content portfolio - early-stage experience in structured data and AI that directly informs the company's intelligence platform strategy.

Alex has since led Aspermont's transformation from a traditional print publisher into a global B2B media, data, and intelligence platform - driving the shift to digital distribution, building high-margin recurring revenues, and delivering 10 consecutive years of subscription growth.

Previously at Microsoft (EMEA Academy graduate). Double Honors B.Sc. in Economics, Accounting & Business Law, University of Bristol.

Ajit Patel

COO / Exec Director
Ex VNU (Nielsen) / Incisive Media

Joined Aspermont in 2013 with 35+ years in media, data, and technology. As COO, Ajit drives the company's digital and data strategy and oversees technology, data, content, events, sales, and subscriptions.

Previously CTO at Incisive Media, where he led global infrastructure and software development across data-rich B2B brands, and prior to that CTO at VNU - now Nielsen - one of the world's largest data and market research companies, where he led all technical aspects of data initiatives, systems architecture, and platform development.

Ajit's career-long track record of building scalable data and technology infrastructure underpins Aspermont's intelligence platform build-out.

Graeme McCracken

Non-Exec Director
Ex RELX (Proagrica / CMD Group)

Over 30 years of expertise in innovation and digital transformation across media, events, data, and analytics.

As Global CEO of Proagrica (RELX Group), Graeme led the transformation from a B2B publisher into a data and analytics platform - setting the organic and inorganic growth strategy and completing four acquisitions in five years.
Previously CEO at CMD Group (construction data).

Graeme brings directly transferable experience in publisher-to-platform transitions - the precise strategic playbook Aspermont is now executing.

Masters in Politics & Economics, University of Glasgow.

Experience across Dentsu, Havas, and Publicis Groupe, leveraging proprietary audience and behavioral data to drive measurable commercial outcomes for global brands.

At Aspermont, leading the commercial strategy for new data products including supply chain intelligence, demand signals, and procurement insights — translating proprietary audience and behavioral data into scalable B2B revenue streams.

New Chair appointed Jan 2026 · ~9-year average Director/Executive tenure · entire board and management aligned to the same KPIs

DEFENSIBLE MOAT

Why We Will Win

Aspermont has a unique opportunity to produce relevant products at a scale and depth that is exceptionally difficult to replicate. The moat is the data, the network and the trust — not the technology.

1 190 years of proprietary archive

Editorial and project data the rest of the market cannot buy or rebuild — the raw material for an LLM-powered intelligence layer.

2 150+ journalists & analysts

An independent practitioner network producing forward, opinionated editorial — not automated extraction.

3 Direct practitioner relationships

Embedded access to C-suite and operations across 4,000+ accounts and 25%+ of the Fortune 100.

4 Editorial independence & trust

190 years of trusted, gated, sector-specific authority — advantaged precisely as AI floods the market with unverified content.

Four Reasons the Inflection Is Now

1

Product readiness

Rio Tinto data licence in delivery; proof-of-concepts with 10 Tier-1 miners from Nov 2026; MVP early 2027; revenue CY27.

2

Proven subscriptions base

Ten years of growth to June 2026; 15.5% ARPU CAGR; 4,000+ corporate subscriptions; 25%+ of the Fortune 100 are clients.

3

Capital — self-funding the build

Subscriptions fund the D&I build; cost base re-shaped; cash $1.6m, no debt; partial Tāiko sale in Q4; sustainable operating cash generation in H2 FY27 (updated guidance, June 2026).

4

Macro tailwinds

Multi-decade critical-minerals capex cycle + AI elevating curated, gated data; enterprise buyers at $100k+ tickets.

Heritage is becoming intelligence. Subscriptions are funding the build. The inflection is now.

Enabling businesses to dig deeper and make better decisions for a brighter future

What Each Brand & Business Does

A plain-English guide to Aspermont's brands and the role each plays across the resources industry.

Mining Journal

The 190-year flagship: global news, analysis and research for the executives, investors and financiers who back mining.

MiningNews.net

The origin digital news brand — fast, high-frequency coverage that drives market penetration and audience reach.

Mining Magazine

With Australia's Mining Monthly — operationally focused title serving the technical, production and equipment side of mining. 110-years old.

Mining IQ

The flagship subscription data & intelligence platform — structured datasets, analytics and research tools built on our proprietary content.

Future of Mining

The flagship global events series, convening industry leaders at conferences across the world's key mining regions.

Nexus

The in-house marketing-services agency, delivering content, campaigns and lead generation for industry suppliers.

Project Pipeline Index

A definitive, structured index of the global mining project pipeline, tracking projects from discovery to production.

AI Is a Tailwind, Not a Headwind

1	Proprietary, not scrapeable	Gated content and data from 190 years of continuous daily reporting, a vast number of verified sources and government feeds. General-purpose LLMs cannot reproduce it, and enterprises verify AI output against trusted primary sources.
2	Trusted inputs for enterprise AI	Miners need licensed, structured data to run their own AI models. Rio Tinto data licence in delivery; proof-of-concepts with 10 Tier-1 miners from November 2026.
3	AI strengthens our product	Better discovery and search in every subscription, and AI analysis of our editorial and project archives that surfaces opportunities and deal signals, supporting volume and ARPU growth.
4	AI in operations	An AI taskforce drives adoption across every division under a strict guardrails policy. FY27 productivity measures: hours saved and revenue per FTE.
