Tali Resources Ltd (ASX: TR2) (Tali or the Company) is pleased to report on its activities for the quarter ended 30 September 2026. During the quarter, the Company completed extensive aircore drilling across five West Arunta prospects and the first diamond drill hole at the Khya prospect, which reached a final depth of 701.5m.

Following quarter end, Tali commenced an approximately 9,000m aircore drilling program to test the Don Juan–Alakol trend and prospects along the Central Australian Suture, including Caspian North, Caspian North-East, Hutt West, Verde East and Verde West. Interpretation of the Falcon airborne gravity gradiometry survey is also progressing to support the identification and ranking of further exploration targets.

West Arunta Project

The West Arunta Project (the Project) is located 500km south of Halls Creek in Western Australia, covering an area of approximately 4,000km^2 within 15 granted exploration licences (Figure 1). The Project is considered prospective for mineral deposit styles including iron oxide copper-gold (IOCG), sediment-hosted copper, carbonatite-associated mineralisation and orogenic-style gold mineralisation.

June–August Aircore Drilling

An aircore drill program testing multiple targets commenced in June 2026 and continued across the Project until mid-August.

The program targeted a combination of gravity-only anomalies, coincident gravity and magnetic-high anomalies and magnetic-high only anomalies, with drilling at Chilka, Gibson West and Hutt also following up on geochemical anomalism. All anomalies are located proximal to the Central Australian Suture, which is interpreted to be a major crustal-scale structure. The prospects are considered prospective for copper, critical minerals and precious metals.

Drilling was completed at Caspian East, Chilka, Hutt, Gibson West and Lonar East, with 72 holes drilled for a total of 3,961m and samples delivered to the laboratory during the quarter. Assay results were reported subsequent to the quarter end on 28 October 2026.

Khya Diamond Drilling

The Khya prospect is characterised by a large-scale, gravity-high anomaly (up to +1mGal), within a 3.5km diameter magnetic-high anomaly, and is located within the Lake Mackay Fault Zone in an area that has no previous drilling[1]. Tali was awarded a $270,000 Exploration Incentive Scheme co-funding grant by the Western Australian Department of Mines, Petroleum and Exploration to drill test the Khya prospect.

A single diamond drill hole was completed in September to a depth of 701.5m downhole. Detailed geological review remains ongoing with core cutting and laboratory analysis to follow.

December Quarter Aircore Drilling

Aircore drilling recommenced subsequent to the September quarter end to test seven targets on the Don Juan–Alakol trend, as well as five prospects located proximal to the Central Australian Suture.

Don Juan and Alakol lie within a 45km-long alkaline ultramafic intrusive complex prospective for critical mineral-bearing carbonatites. Approximately 5,500m of aircore drilling will provide an initial test of these prospects. For further information refer to the Company's announcement on 13 October 2026.

Filtered magnetics

In addition to the Don Juan–Alakol trend drilling, approximately 3,500m of aircore drilling is planned to test five targets along the Central Australian Suture at the following prospects: Caspian North, Caspian North-East, Hutt West, Verde East and Verde West. For further information on the prospects, refer to the Company's Corporate Presentation announced on 18 May 2026.

Falcon Airborne Gravity Gradiometry Survey

In May 2026, the Company completed a large-scale 1,800km^2 Falcon airborne gravity gradiometry survey over selected areas of interest within its tenure. The program was flown at 600m and 400m line spacing to provide sufficient data density to identify large-scale features and better define bedrock architecture to support planning for follow-up targeting and exploration. Interpretation of the data is ongoing with the aim of defining additional targets for further exploration.

New Project Generation

While the Company is primarily focused on exploration activities at its existing project, continued efforts are also allocated to identifying and assessing enhancements to the Company's exploration portfolio.

During the quarter, the Company lodged two new exploration licence applications for tenements E80/6266 and E80/6267 and withdrew tenements E80/6189 and E80/6198.

Corporate

At the end of the September quarter, the Company held approximately $3.8 million in cash.
