McLAREN MINERALS

ASX UPDATE

2 November 2026

Correction to Recent Announcements

McLaren Minerals Limited (ASX: MML) ("McLaren" or "Company"), seeks to correct an error that has appeared in recent ASX announcements. In announcements regarding updates to drilling at McLaren (15 Sept and 6 Oct) and in the announcements relating to the Eastern Shoreline (28 and 29 Oct), on page 4 of each announcement it stated that McLaren had also completed the acquisition of the zircon-rich Barossa Project in South Australia. This statement is incorrect and McLaren still awaits the completion of the transfer of the Barossa tenements.

The correct wording for that section of the respective announcements is below.

McLaren Minerals is an exploration and pre-development company focused on the development of our high-value McLaren titanium project in the western Eucla Basin of Western Australia. Titanium is considered a critical mineral and is essential for aerospace, defence and energy technologies. McLaren has also recently agreed to acquire the Zircon rich Barossa Project, located on the eastern Eucla Basin, in South Australia.

McLaren apologises for any confusion this may have caused to shareholders and investors and will advise the market once the transaction has actually been completed.

This announcement has been authorised by the Managing Director.
