

Environmental, Social, and Governance

In a world moving towards cleaner energy sources, natural gas is a critical component of a successful transition.

Strike recognises its pivotal role in ensuring the reliability of essential services during this transformative period, especially as Western Australia undergoes a shift away from coal towards a lower carbon future.