MA Financial Group

Monthly commentary

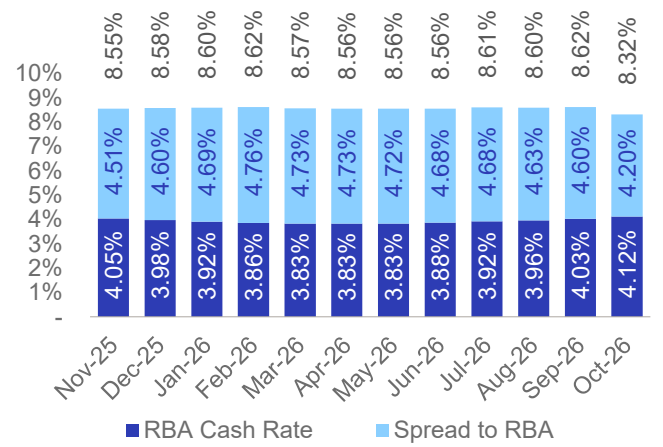

The MA Credit Income Trust (ASX: MA1) (the Fund) delivered a net return of 0.39% for October 2026, below the Fund's Target Return of the RBA Cash Rate + 4.25% p.a. (net of fees and costs).

The lower monthly result primarily reflects downward adjustments to the carrying values of select real estate credit investments within the underlying portfolio during the month of October 2026, following new information necessitating revised assessments of expected recoveries for those investments. The adjustments are equivalent to approximately 1.8% of the Manager's real estate credit portfolio, with an estimated impact of approximately 0.4% on the Fund's total return for October 2026.

Following the October 2026 adjustment, the Fund's rolling 12-month net return is 8.32%, compared with its corresponding target return of 8.61%. The estimated annualised net return since inception is 8.50% p.a., broadly in line with the Fund's investment objective.

Further information on the valuation adjustments and credit performance is provided on page 4.

Direct asset lending update

Conditions in the Australian residential real estate market have continued to deteriorate. Certain assets securing loans within the Manager's direct asset lending portfolio (which relate to its real estate credit activities) are experiencing extended realisation timeframes and/or changes in anticipated asset recovery proceeds.

In light of these circumstances, and based on new information received by the Manager in respect of eight watchlist loans held by the MA Secured Loan Series, the Manager as part of its regular monthly valuation review has made downward adjustments to the carrying values of the eight loans within MA Secured Loan Series, which comprises approximately 71 underlying loan investments.

Direct Asset Lending represented approximately 20% of the Fund’s underlying portfolio as at 31 October 2026. Reflecting its diversified structure that provides exposure to a range of Underlying MA Financial Credit Funds and strategies across MA Financial’s private credit platform, the effect of the valuation adjustment on the Fund was 0.4%. As a result, the Fund earned a lower return by this amount during the month of October 2026.

The Manager notes that the Fund’s returns since inception remain at 8.50% p.a., broadly consistent with its target objectives.

Credit performance

The underlying portfolio remains diversified across approximately 245 investment positions and multiple credit strategies. As at 31 October 2026, approximately 95% of the portfolio by value was classified as performing. The portfolio comprised 64% asset backed lending, 16% direct corporate lending and 20% direct asset lending, with the allocation to direct asset lending having reduced from approximately 30% a year earlier. The proportion of the portfolio in workouts or enforcement remains manageable at a modest 3.5%, represented by 14 loans, of which 10 are in the direct asset lending strategy.

The Manager continues to actively manage the real estate credit portfolio, with particular focus on the modest proportion of investments experiencing development, sales or refinancing challenges.

Recovery strategies continue to progress across selected investments, including construction works under replacement-builder arrangements at two developments, together with asset sales and refinancing initiatives across other positions.

END NOTE

1. Returns are based on NAV unit prices as at the month-end ex-distribution date, net of all fees and costs, and assume the reinvestment of distributions. No allowance has been made for entry fees or investor-specific tax outcomes. Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future performance.
2. Price and NAV as at month end, ex-distribution.
3. Current month distribution as a percentage of NAV, annualised as at 31 October 2026, based on 32 days in the distribution period and assumes no reinvestment.
4. Represents total assets under management of the Underlying MA Financial Credit Funds that the MA Credit Income Fund (Wholesale) (Underlying Fund) has exposure to. Portfolio data as at 31 October 2026.
5. Underlying Fund credit duration represents the weighted average time until expected repayment of its assets, based on the Underlying Fund's proportionate interest in Underlying Credit Investments on a look-through basis. Data as at 31 October 2026. Expected repayment timing based on the earliest of contractual maturity, the Manager's expected repayment date and the first date the lender may call for repayment. For asset backed warehouses, this assumes the Manager does not extend the availability period beyond its first scheduled end date. Actual repayment may differ and may be later. Relates to underlying investments only and is not a measure of the Fund's liquidity position.
6. MA Financial and its staff have co-invested over $240 million in all MA Financial credit funds, including more than $190 million in the Underlying MA Financial Credit Funds as at 30 June 2026.
7. Returns are calculated in accordance with the Financial Services Council (FSC) investment performance reporting guidelines, of which MA Financial Group is a member. Returns for periods greater than one year are annualised. Returns as at 31 October 2026.
8. Based on Underlying Credit Investments, which means each of the discrete investment positions that the Underlying Fund holds, including on a proportionate look-through basis where investments are held in the Underlying MA Financial Credit Funds or sub-trusts established for the purpose of holding loans or credit assets. The term Underlying Credit Investment by investment strategy specifically refers to the underlying loan to an asset for Direct Asset Lending, the underlying loan to a company for Direct Corporate Lending and the underlying credit security (or note / bond, if applicable) that represents the substantive investment made in respect of Asset Backed Lending. Refer to separate disclosures in respect of fund structure and leverage disclosures related to the Underlying Fund's interest in these assets. Numbers may not add to 100% due to rounding.
9. "Senior Secured" relates to all senior secured investments held in Asset Backed Lending, Direct Asset Lending and Direct Corporate Lending investment strategies. "Structured Secured" relates to mezzanine investments held across the Asset Backed Lending investment strategy. "Subordinated" relates to all other subordinated investments.
10. Other than sub-segments marked with "Corporate – "or "Real Estate – ", the sub-sectors identified (such as "RMBS (Private)", "Auto", and "Supply Chain Finance") relate to private loan warehouses and structured facilities funded by the Underlying MA Financial Credit Funds.
11. Rated by MA Asset Management including where investments are not rated by public ratings agencies. MA's credit rating framework is derived from methodologies published by public rating agencies and applied to the Underlying Credit Investments. Where appropriate, the Underlying Credit Investments are benchmarked to comparable transactions that have a published rating. Cash holdings are treated as having the same public rating as the banking institution in which cash is deposited. Rating categories (e.g., BBB, BB) reflect MA's internal framework mapped to the S&P scale for comparability and are not external credit ratings.
12. Performance indicator classifications formulated by MA Asset Management based on its internal credit risk scoring matrix, specific for each investment strategy. Portfolio composition percentages are based on the Underlying Fund's proportionate interest in Underlying Credit Investments. A "Performing – Neutral Risks" position is performing as expected with risk factors neutral or favourable since origination. A "Performing – Moderate Risks" position is where the borrower or collateral is performing; however, moderate risks have emerged since origination. These positions are under enhanced monitoring. An "Elevated Risks" position is where performance is substantially below expectations and risk has increased materially since origination. These positions are under enhanced monitoring with proactive strategies in place to mitigate risk and limit potential downside. Finally, a "Workout / Enforcements" position is where the Manager is taking action to stabilise, protect and recover value. Numbers may not add to 100% due to rounding. Data as at 31 October 2026, excluding cash.
13. Interest margin represents loan pricing above a reference rate (e.g. BBSW, SOFR or BKBM). For fixed-rate positions, where no reference rate applies, an implied margin has been calculated to facilitate comparison. Adjusted for any underlying investment level financing.
14. "Positions amended to capitalise interest" represents positions where the loan agreement has been amended such that interest is capitalised on an ongoing basis under the current terms of the facility.
15. Default defined as a payment default in arrears by 90 days or more, or any other default as defined in facility documentation that has not been remedied within the cure period.
16. Carrying value represents the Fund's assessed recoverable value of the investment, adjusted to exclude the amortisation of upfront fees and any purchase premiums or discounts where applicable. Investments are carried at cost where accounted for under AASB, and at fair value where accounted for under US GAAP. Recognised loan balance represents the face value of the principal loan amount at origination, adjusted for drawdowns and repayments to date.
17. Total available liquidity comprises cash held at bank, fixed income instruments that may be realised to provide liquidity, and available undrawn capacity under fund-level and investment financing facilities. Figures are presented on a look-through basis and expressed as a percentage of the Fund's AUM. Liquidity held directly at the Fund level is included at 100% weight, and liquidity held within each Underlying MA Financial Credit Fund is included in proportion to that fund's share of the Fund's total invested exposure. Balances as at 31 October 2026.
