Kinatico response to cyber incident

Leading Australian "Know Your People" RegTech company, Kinatico Limited (ASX:KYP) advises that it is investigating a cyber incident relating to limited external AI agent driven activity within one of Kinatico's legacy solutions, Cited™.

As soon as the incident was identified, Kinatico took immediate precautionary steps including taking Cited offline, contained the incident, and investigated with the assistance of external cyber security experts.

No other Kinatico solutions have been affected and all remain fully operational.

While our investigation into the incident remains ongoing, findings to date have identified unauthorised access to:

(a) the personal details (full name, gender, date of birth, place of birth, current address and employer) of 13 individuals;

(b) the same personal details of 19 individuals, together with one or both of their passport and driver's licence numbers; and

(c) the names, email addresses, location and/or mobile number of 288 individuals.

There was no access to scanned identity documentation, customer credit cards, payment, or bank details. If these numbers materially change, Kinatico will update the market accordingly.

Kinatico is taking steps to notify the Office of the Australian Information Commissioner of the incident, and will contact affected individuals directly to explain what has happened and what steps they can take to protect themselves.

Kinatico takes data protection and security seriously and is making sure additional security measures are in place before restoring Cited. The timeframe for restoration therefore remains under review.
